Hiii-yaa!

Students of the Romulus recreation department karate class meet twice a week to study Isshinryu Karate, a self-defense form of the martial art. The class, which meets at Halecreek and Wick elementary schools, is open to residents age 5 and older. Students are taught how to survive if confronted by an attacker. ## City gathers evidence for flood lawsuit

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus officials received a plan of action last week from engineers investigating the deluge of flooded basements reported by residents Feb. 22.

The engineering investigation ties in with a city lawsuit against Wayne County. Filed March 5, the suit claims Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport officials caused the flooding by releasing runoff from heavy rains into the city drainage and sewage systems.

Prior to filing of the lawsuit, Wayne County Department of Public Works Director James Murray said the county opened three airport flood gates Feb. 22. Nearly two inches of rainfall combined with melting snow that day to create a potentially dangerous situation, he said. Murray said the floodgates were opened to prevent flash flooding at the airport.

When angry residents crowded city council chambers during two recent meetings, they accused county officials of making the decision strictly on the basis of money.

The lawsuit will attempt to stop airport officials from releasing flood waters again. It also seeks at least $10,000 in damages.

Through the engineering study, city officials hope to find solid evidence linking a cause to the flooding. Williams & Works engineers will focus on the Oakbrook, Applewood and Meadows subdivisions, the areas hit hardest by flooding.

Engineers will:

- review plans for sanitary and storm sewers in the study area;
- review the storm-water retention systems at the airport and the relationship of airport sewers to city sewers;

Groups apply for block grant funds

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Representatives from six organizations came before city council Monday night, each requesting a portion of the 1990 Community Development Block Grant for the city.

This year, a budget of approximately $76,500 is available.

Community Development Block Grants are allocated to organizations or city departments that can make a specific contribution. Funding must benefit at least 39.9 percent of a targeted area.

Applicants this year are the police department, the community development department, the emergency management department, The Romulus Help Center, the Information Center and First Step.

All funding for this program comes from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

As a member of the Wayne County Block Grant Consortium, Romulus receives funds funneled through the county.

Community development representatives Monday night requested funds for two projects - Wayne Road sidewalk expansion and drain improvements for the Ecorse Creek area.

Dennis Oakes, community development director, said the grants would provide partial funding for each of the proposed projects. He said council approval of a grant for the drain improvements would not obligate members to move forward with special assessments.

More of a topic of debate was the funding request for the sidewalks. In past years, the city has requested new commercial or industrial developers to fund sidewalks for their sites. Councilmember Noah Bergeron said grant funding would not be fair to those who already put their own money toward the sidewalks.

"We ought to look at a master plan for sidewalks to make a fair and equitable system for everybody," he said. "We can't discriminate and pick and choose."

"Sidewalks aren't something you can eat," said Councilmember Jimmie Raspberry. "I think we're getting carried away with the sidewalks."

Raspberry said he plans to encourage a local agency that serves homeless people to squeeze in a last-minute application for grant money.

Another applicant present Monday, the Information Center, serves several area communities including Romulus. Funds were requested for the homeshare program, which helps people find affordable housing by pairing off roommates.

An organization representative said six Romulus residents were "matched" through the program last year. Twenty-nine local residents received counseling through the program.

Drug program demands local effort

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When the Romulus Build a Bridge to the Future Committee sponsored a poster contest in January, they encouraged youth to warn peers about substance abuse.

Members of the newly formed community group say they want that warning to continue through as many sources as possible - students, parents, teachers, business people and city leaders.

The poster contest was one of the first Build a Bridge to the Future programs for the 1989-90 year. Seven hundred elementary school students designed posters, explaining why drugs should be avoided.

Several weeks ago parents were brought into the act. The committee sponsored a day-long trip to Lansing. The goal - to show parents some of the options available to them to tackle the drug problem.

"I thought the trip was very informational," said committee member Sandra Langley.

Participants were introduced to state lawmakers and then toured the Capitol.

Several more activities are now being planned through Build a Bridge, including a rather elaborate finale to the school year.

A balloon lift-off is tentatively planned for 2 p.m. May 16. Every school in the district along with St. Aloysius School will participate with the students from each building releasing a balloon at the same time.

Organizers said the activity will represent a united community working together to battle substance abuse. Attached to each balloon will be a student's name and a school address. The messages will read, "Hugs, Not Drugs."

"If this happens to fall in a yard in Tennessee, they'll know the people in Romulus are trying to fight drugs," Langley said.

Another show of community unity, participants in Hands Across the Bridge will form a human chain across town. The event will probably be staged toward the end of the school year.

The overpass at Interstate 94 and Ozga road will serve as the bridge with people spanning as far as Five Points.

To encourage participation, committee members are considering enlisting the help of celebrity participants. Members also plan to invite student bands, possibly to lead a mock parade to form the chain.

Additional committee projects in the works - building a float for the Romulus Festival parade, sponsoring a sports event and adopting a new logo for the group. A member of the Romulus Arts Council has volunteered to help with the latter.

Build a bridge members are also considering a rally to kick off the second year of activities and to go over accomplishments from this year.

Craft show is fundraiser for St. Aloysius

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

With tables sold out a month and a half in advance, the St. Aloysius arts and crafts show has already received an enthusiastic response.

The fund-raising event will be staged from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. March 17 at the school.

Members of the school parents' club first sponsored the show last year.

"We use the funds to buy things for kids that aren't in the normal school budget," said craft show organizer Michelle Major.

Spending proceeds from the 1989 show and other fundraisers, the club bought three computers for the school last year. Members hope to make a similar purchase this year.

Craft show money has also been used for textbooks, globes and classroom tools, usually upon the suggestions of teachers.

This year, the show will feature 48 tables. Because they are sold out, club members have started a waiting list for the 1991 show, Major said.

"I could not believe the response we got. My phone rang and rang and rang."

Ten artists from the 1989 show will participate again this year. Displays will include pottery, inks, oils, dolls, wreaths, Victorian crafts, quilts, baskets, potpourri and teddy bears.

"All kinds of stuff," Major added.

During the show, the school kitchen will be open. Club members will sell pizza, hot dogs, nachos and baked goods.

"Rumor has it that one of the moms will be coming in early to bake bread," Major said.

For more information about the craft show, call St. Aloysius School at 941-3340.

• meet with the Romulus DPW staff and review their field investigation findings;

• review the citizen "Flooded Basement Questionnaire";

• meet with airport and county officials to discuss their policies on releasing storm water from retention basins;

• assure storm and sanitary sewers in the affected subdivisions will be checked for capacity.

With this information in place, the firm will make an engineering judgement - the engineers will decide what caused the basement flooding, and will recommend methods to prevent future problems.

All of this information will be presented to the mayor and city council in a formal report. A time frame for completion has not been announced.

Meanwhile, Mayor Beverly McAnally said questionnaires about the basement flooding are starting to stream into her office. The questionnaires request specific information - when did the flooding begin; how deep was the water; how did the water enter the basement; how rapidly did the water rise; is this the first flooding in the home and how fast did the water fall. Residents are also asked to describe the color and odor of the water.

Although several residents submitted water to the city for testing, no results have been released yet, McAnally said.

NOXIOUS WEED NOTICE

TO THE PROPERTY OWNERS IN THE CITY OF ROMULUS

In accordance with P.A. 359 OF 1941, as amended and Chapter 19, Article 3, of the Romulus Code of Ordinances it shall be the duty of all owners of lands on which noxious weeds are found growing, to destroy the same before they reach a seed bearing stage and to prevent such weeds from becoming a detriment to public health.

If any such owner, agent or occupant of such land shall refuse to destroy such noxious weeds or cause them to be destroyed, it shall be the duty of the Noxious Weed Commissioner to enter upon such land and destroy such noxious weeds.

Any expense incurred in such destruction shall be paid by the owner or owners of such land and the City shall have a lien against such land for such expense. Any owner who shall refuse to destroy such noxious weeds shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500.00 and/or not more than 90 days in jail.

Nothing in this notice shall apply to weeds in fields devoted to growing any small grain crop such as wheat, oats, barley or rye.

All weeds not cut by May 29, 1989, will be cut by the City and the owner of the property will be charged with the cost. Subsequent cuttings will be done as often as necessary when vegetation reaches 12 inches in height and/or seed bearing stage.

All refuse and debris on the given owners property will be removed by the City at the owners expense.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Break-in is reported

A break-in was reported March 10 from a Romulus business on the 28000 block of Van Born.

Police officials said the suspect entered the building by smashing a window.

A cash register was taken.

Thief strikes construction site

Equipment valued at more than $7,000 was taken from a construction site at Wick Road and Venoy March 8.

The suspect broke into a trailer on the site, police officials said. A pipe laser in a yellow carrying case was taken.

Schools enter tournament

During the past week, students from three Romulus elementary schools participated in a basketball tournament sponsored by the Garden City Recreation Department.

These three schools were Barth, Cory and Wick.

In the first pairings were two Romulus teams, Barth and Cory. The students fought it out to the last whistle with Cory the victor, 52-50.

In the final outcome of the tournament, Cory took second place and Barth finished in third place.

Council to review golf course study

Romulus City Council will stage a study session at 6:30 p.m. April 9 at Romulus City Hall to review a recently completed golf course feasibility study.

This study, concerned with a city-owned course, was commissioned by city councilmembers and the building authority.

City officials suggested the course more than a year ago when they learned the privately owned Shady Hollow course at Wayne Road and Smith may be closed to make way for the Metro World Centre development.

A plot of city-owned land near Wick Elementary School was proposed for a new course. That area has also been eyed as a potential site for a new recreation center.

Dennis Oakes, community development director, said the feasibility study recommends the city move forward with the golf course and related residential development. The study also reviews funding options.

City ready for warmer days

A sign winter is drawing to a close, Romulus recreation officials are planning for spring and summer events.

Recreation officials Monday night obtained permission to request bids for softball equipment.

Approximately 98 dozen softballs are needed for the 1990 adult softball program, they said.

In addition, bids will be requested for the city Fourth of July fireworks display.

Pension board nets appointees

Romulus city councilmembers approved Monday night several new members of the city pension committee.

James Wegienka, representative, and Ted Gilliland, alternative, will represent City of Romulus Teamsters Local 214. They will replace Lois Parker, who recently resigned.

In addition, Staci Gibbings will now serve on the committee representing the 34th District Court Employee Association.

St. Paddy's dance nears

The traditional St. Patrick's Day celebration planned by City Clerk Linda Choate is set for 8 p.m. March 17 at Romulus Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga Road.

For ticket information call the city clerk's office at 942-7540.

Use of city lobbyist is debated, contract OK'd

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus city councilmembers approved a new contract for the city lobbying firm Monday night, but the issue remains a sore subject among some residents and councilmembers.

Karoub Associates was reinstated Feb. 26, more than two months after councilmembers approved a resolution to "fire" the firm. Several councilmembers said they voted to discontinue the lobbying service because of continued failure by the firm to supply progress reports.

When a firm representative presented a final report to council two weeks ago, he convinced councilmembers to retain Karoub Associates' services.

Councilmember Noah Bergeron said his vote to terminate Karoub Associates was a way to signal firm representatives the city was unhappy with their lack of communications. When the firm provided a report, he voted to reinstate the company.

Councilmembers were presented Monday with a new contract calling for a $3,000 monthly service fee for the lobbying firm.

Firm representatives through the contract agreed to provide written communications to the mayor and city council describing their efforts for Romulus.

The lobbyists will also be responsible for quarterly reports before city council.

During the contract presentation, Romulus resident Mary Collins spoke out for the second time in recent weeks against the use of a lobbyist.

"It's a fact Karoub Associates contributed heavily to Mayor (Beverly) McAnally's campaign," Collins said.

Collins added the $36,000 that will go to the lobbyists could be spent on improvements to the downtown area.

McAnally said accepting campaign contributions is a reality of politics, one she is not trying to hide.

"My reports are on file...If you don't like the way the system runs I suggest you change it," she told Collins.

Councilmember Noah Bergeron said his vote to terminate Karoub Associates was a way to signal firm representatives the city was unhappy with their lack of communications. When the firm provided a report, he voted to reinstate the company.

"If we're going to get anything done in the state of Michigan you need a lobbyist," he said.

Councilmember Ellis Pennington offered similar feelings.

"He (the lobbyist) has delivered for the city."

"The lobbyist has nothing to offer you, nothing at all," said Councilmember Jimmie Raspberry, who later voted to reject the lobbying contract.

Raspberry said the report that helped the firm win back a position with the city consisted of old news already announced by the Michigan Municipal League.

Councilmember Fred "Junior" Block also voted to oppose the lobbyists' contract.

2 Taylor men die after crash with semi truck

Two men from Taylor are dead after a car crash with a semi-tractor trailer in Romulus March 6.

Romulus police officials said the accident occurred at midnight on Middlebelt Road south of Airport Drive.

A Chevrolet Chevette northbound on Middlebelt struck the back of a semi. A portion of the small car was wedged beneath the truck, police said.

The car driver, Mark Anton Pleasa, 39, was pronounced dead at the scene.

A passenger, Bradley Rasmussen, 26, was flown by air ambulance to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor with serious injuries. He died Sunday afternoon, hospital authorities said.

Police officials said the semi driver, James M. Grandon, 22, of Indiana was not injured.

When the accident occurred, the truck had been stopped in the right lane of Middlebelt to let off a passenger. Reports indicate the truck blinkers had been flashing.

Apparently, police officials said, the Chevette driver was unable to stop in time to avoid the parked vehicle.

The investigation of this case is expected to be reviewed by the Wayne County prosecutor.

Recreation department announces schedule of spring activities

Ring in the spring, a full schedule of activities has been scheduled by the Romulus Recreation Department for March and April.

For bowlers, adult nine pin is set for 9 p.m. March 24 at the Romulus alleys. The entry fee is $17 per couple and includes bowling, jackpots and pizza. Registration is being accepted now at the alley and must be accompanied by the registration fee.

Parent/child bowling will be staged at 2 p.m. April 21 at the Romulus alleys. The entry fee is $13 per couple and includes pop, pizza, bowling, mystery games, bowling for dollars and prizes. Registration, which must include the fee, is being accepted at the bowling alley.

The final bowling event for April, adult scotch doubles, is planned for 9:30 p.m. April 28 at the Romulus alleys. The entry fee is $17 per couple and includes bowling, jackpots and pizza. Advance registration with fees are being accepted at the bowling alley.

For Easter, a full day of activities is planned.

An Easter egg hunt will be staged at 10 a.m. April 14 on the carnival grounds behind the recreation building on Bibbins Street. The free event is open to children ages 3 to 8.

For older children, a trip to the Detroit Science Center is being planned. The cost of the trip is $4 and must be paid at registration. This season, the museum is featuring a super heroes exhibit. Registration will be accepted at the registration center.

Another spring activity is, teams are being organized into leagues for adult softball. Those interested in participating can call the recreation department and leave their names and telephone numbers.

For more information about any recreation department program call 942-6852.

Grant

LeDuc said her department needs grant money to purchase an emergency siren for the police station. The siren would be voice activated, she said, able to offer residents specific directions during a disaster.

Requesting money for an emergency shelter was a representative from First Step, an area program for battered women and children. First Step serves people throughout the county, including 73 families from Romulus in 1989. In addition to providing temporary shelter, the program offers counseling services.

Funding for two programs was requested for the Romulus Help Center - youth assistance and senior citizen service. Youth assistance pairs teens who are in trouble at school or with the police with volunteer counselors. This support program was designed to prevent future problems for the teens.

Senior citizen services through the help center include minor home repair, housekeeping and personal care. Each of the services are intended to help seniors remain independent.

From the Romulus Police Department came a proposal for crime prevention. The department would use a grant to purchase street lights for the Wayne Road/Beverly area.

When making their selections for grant recipients, city officials can only allocate funds to areas where more than 42.9 percent of the population has a low to moderate income.

Council decisions are expected to come during a second public hearing March 26.

Final approval from the federal government is usually announced in June. Funding is distributed in August or September.

Survey reveals needs of Wayne County

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Results of an issues survey, conducted by the Conference of Western Wayne, will provide direction for new endeavors by the 17-community organization.

CWW Executive Director Daniel Gilmartin reported the survey results to the membership March 9. He noted that three major concerns were revealed in the survey.

"All 14 communities which responded to the survey listed a need for more drug education programs for children, a continuation of our solid waste programs and an increase in transportation services for the elderly and handicapped," Gilmartin said.

Gilmartin said the community concerns will be addressed in a legislative forum. In addition, the CWW will study ways to fund a regional drug education program for elementary and secondary schools.

The CWW executive director also noted widespread concern about the increases in property assessments, particularly the burden they present to senior citizens. Those who responded to the survey, noted there is a large disparity in increases to residential, commercial and industrial assessments.

In the area of public safety, respondents also expressed concerns about additional manpower, lack of available jail space, a need for multi-community consortiums and auto theft.

Environmental concerns included recycling and composting, noise and air pollution, wetlands areas, compliance with state and county environmental mandates and water quality of the Rouge River, Gilmartin said. Topics mentioned under recycling were regional coordination, implementation of a regional center, community education and adoption of the Wayne County plan.

Transportation concerns listed by members of the CWW were the repair and maintenance of roads and bridges, the impact of airport expansion and development of a transportation system.

CWW members also listed the need for additional recreational activities.

Roll Call Vote Showing: Ayes - Bergeron, Block, Gear, Lambert, Pennington, Raspberry, Wadsworth. Naves - None.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

5. Council policy is that the minutes contain official action only. I am including the following in the minutes because of its emergency nature and the potential importance of documentation. During the early morning hours of Thursday, February 22, 1990, heavy rain began to fall and continued throughout the day and into the evening. Two and one quarter (2 1/4) inches of rain fell, as recorded at Metro Airport, came on top of 3-4 inches of snow and ice. The warm front that accompanied the rain melted the snow and ice. Roads, underpasses, and ditches flooded. All drainages, filled to capacity, began to overflow. Some homes in the southeast quarter of Romulus began to take on water in small amounts.

As the rain stopped and water began to recede, homeowners mopped up. Sometime between 6:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m., water began to gush into basements with such tremendous pressure, basement drains became geysers. Areas primarily affected were residential subdivisions south of Eureka Road between Merriman and Inkster Roads. Many had several feet of storm water, sanitary sewer discharge and waste in their homes.

Friday, February 23, 1990, turned bitter cold with temperatures below zero with wind chill readings of 18 degrees below zero. Some homes had no heat and no hot water. The flood destroyed freezers of food, washers, dryer, furnaces, hot water tanks, tile, carpeting, furniture, clothing, toys and other items too numerous to count. When the damage assessment is completed, the loss could be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, not to mention the human suffering.

On Monday, February 26, 1990, many persons appeared at the council meeting pleading for help from the Mayor and Council. The Mayor made arrangements with the rubbish company to pick up all the damaged furniture, appliances etc. The general feeling of the audience was that after the rain stopped, the airport opened valves dumping millions of gallons of water effectively flooding southeast Romulus, Taylor and other neighboring communities. The Mayor, Council, special counsel Michael Feiler, and the engineering firm of Williams & Works Engineering and Science, Inc., will investigate the matter in an effort to determine if this was an Act of God, if not, then who, what, where, why and when. The Mayor will report finding and recommendation to Council at the meeting of March 5, 1990.

A list of names and addresses of persons who attended the meeting and testified to the foregoing is on file in the clerks office. It is by no means an exhaustive list of persons who may have sustained some degree of damage.

SCHOOL NEWS DIGEST

Camp directory is available

A free directory of more than 70 Michigan children's camps is now available.

These camps are all licensed by the state of Michigan and are accredited by the American Camping Association.

Each camp listing includes information about the program, the location, dates of the sessions and tuition.

Parents can receive a free copy by contacting the Michigan Section, 3208 West Road, East Lansing, Michigan 48823, or by calling 1-800-852-8368.

YWCA culture classes begin

Ballet and art classes begin for boys and girls ages 5 through 12 March 17 at the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

The spring session lasts eight weeks with each series offered at $10.

The classes are scheduled as follows: Ballet I ages 9-12, 9 to 9:50 a.m.; Ballet I ages 7-9, 10 to 10:50 a.m.; Pre-Ballet ages 5-7, 11 to 11:30 a.m. Fine Arts for ages 7-12 is from 10:50 to 12:10.

Classic ballet techniques will be practiced and art students will explore a variety of media and techniques with a focus on creativity.

Students enter competition

A team of students from Romulus Senior High School will take auto mechanics skills from the classroom and apply them under the hood in the annual Plymouth-AAA Trouble Shooting Contest.

During the contest first phase, four students took a written exam at Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor.

Ten schools with the top scores on the written exam will compete in the Trouble Shooting "Hands-On" state final in Lansing, May 10.

Student hits top with PSAT scores

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When Wendy Hopper first learned about her Preliminary Student Achievement Test results, she thought someone had made a mistake.

The scores were accurate though—the 11th grader earned the highest PSAT scores at Romulus Senior High School this year. In fact, Hopper's scores are among the top two percent nationwide.

With an overall score of 98 percent, she earned 99 percent in the verbal section and 96 percent in math.

Unlike a history or geometry test, the PSAT focuses on general knowledge and skills. Students cannot cram for success. Hopper, like most students, went into testing without any traditional test-taking preparation.

"There's not much you can do," she said.

Actually, the PSAT is a form of preparation for the ultimate horror in college placement exams, the SAT.

"My English teach said it's not harder, just longer," Hopper said.

Completing the PSAT took Hopper approximately two hours.

Hopper did know what she was getting into when she took the exam in December. She had taken it on an "unofficial" basis as a sophomore. Hopper's scores reached 98 percent that year, too.

Last year, she received little feedback about her accomplishment. Now she is seeing more attention and indulging in a little more bragging.

"I've been telling all my friends," Hopper said.

"She's always done real well," said her mother, Cheryl. "She does it all on her own. I don't have to say word one."

While Hopper has been hearing from numerous colleges, she said she is a long way from a choice. And like most students her age, she is also indecisive about a career.

"I think about it, but I can't seem to decide...For awhile I've wanted to do research," she said.

She has thought about writing, psychology and teaching.

Whatever she picks, Hopper said she does not want to fall into a rut.

"I don't want a 9-to-5 job," she said.

Already, Hopper finds herself in a hectic schedule with classes, a job at the local library and an hour here and there as a tutor.

To relax, when there's time, she reads, plays Dungeons and Dragons and visits the mall with her friends.

Students receive academic accolades

Volunteers are honored for work

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Representatives from the Young Women's Christian Association of Western Wayne County said thanks recently to a group of volunteers and workers who offered extra support to the organization last year.

Community service awards went to four local people who came to the YWCA through the General Motors job banks. The workers are from the Romulus Service Parts Operation - William Barrett, Westland; John Hunt, Wayne and Carolyn Cantu and Marlin Zombeck from the Dearborn area.

The job bank provides community service work for laid off employees near their normal rate of pay. Participation is optional.

At the YWCA, these workers trimmed trees, caulked windows, painted walls and repaired several items including toys, a copy machine, a typewriter, an oven and a sump pump. They refinished furniture, delivered supplies and organized closets. During the holiday season, some of the workers made Christmas cookies for area families and acted as Santa's helpers.

"All of this is happening at our YWCA because four citizens...have many skills and talents and are committed to using them creatively at a time when their lives have been dramatically changed," said Corinne Vincent, executive director of the Western Wayne County YWCA.

Also presented recently was the YWCA Volunteer Award of Meritorious Service. The award was created in 1964 to offer recognition for outstanding volunteer service over an extended period of time.

The woman honored this year has been a member of the local YWCA 28 years. Mary Ruth Ross was instrumental in planning and implementing the national YWCA 125th birthday celebration and has provided leadership to numerous volunteer programs.

Ross has participated in the annual benefit raffle for the organization and chaired the traditional Spring Rummage Sale. She also provided leadership to the annual meeting committee, annual membership campaign, national review and the United Way Review Committee.

The Inkster resident has been a member of the board of directors since 1985. She is the fourth vice president of volunteer leadership.

"She's never too busy to lend a hand at children's cultural events and special workshops. Her eloquent delivery has enhanced many YWCA programs," Vincent said.

2 teens killed in train accident

Two Jackson-area teenagers were killed Tuesday night when a joyride aboard a Detroit-bound train turned into a nightmare.

The two teens were riding atop a boxcar when their bodies were smashed into a bridge abutment. Their bodies were found in a railroad flatcar in a Conrail yard in Wayne at Michigan Avenue and Wayne Road at approximately 9 p.m. Tuesday, according to Wayne police.

A 16-year-old Blackman Township boy died instantly of head injuries and a 14-year-old Jackson girl also died instantly when she was partially decapitated by the impact, according to reports.

Police would not release the names of the victims who were reported as runaways by their parents Tuesday.

Reports indicate that the two were among a group of six teens who hopped an eastbound train at approximately 9 p.m. Monday in Jackson.

The two were reportedly killed outside Ypsilanti at approximately 1 a.m. Their companions reportedly hopped off the train shortly after the accident, but did not report the accident to their parents until 1 p.m. Tuesday.

The parents reported the accident to Conrail officials, according to police.

Conrail officials in Wayne then located the bodies.

According to reports the teens were jumping from boxcar to boxcar at the time of the accident. They didn't see the viaduct, according to reports.

Police officials indicate that many young people are found playing or walking along train tracks in the area. Police warn of the dangers involved.

Wayne residents will see this story twice in their newspapers today. We apologize for the duplication, but the circumstances of our deadlines led to this situation.

Health New local doctor sets focus on kids

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Western Wayne County now has another pediatrician. Dr. Verna Turkish has opened a practice in Westland that will service children and teens.

Turkish, who has practiced medicine and taught in Africa, opened her practice after she discovered there aren't many pediatricians in the area.

During her first month in business, Turkish is seeing an average of 11 patients per day, but as more people learn about her business continually is picking up.

After returning from Africa, Turkish said she wanted to start fresh, and so she opened the new practice.

She worked at the Family First Clinic in Westland for awhile before opening Pediatric Care.

"Many patients may remember me from Family First or from working in the emergency room of Annapolis Hospital and Garden City Hospital," Turkish said.

Children who enter the pre-examining area of Turkish's office are greeted by a tall, familiar friend - Michael Jordan. The life-size poster is used to measure the child's height.

Local sports heroes and other familiar faces adorn the walls of the examining rooms and in the lobby there is a poster warning kids about the hazards of smoking.

One of the doctor's primary concerns is to educate children and teenagers about the dangers of drugs, smoking and sexually transmitted diseases.

"I am very interested in counseling and prevention. There is more to children than simply treating them when they get sick," she said.

"It's a privilege to be a doctor, and I enjoy teaching the parents what they can do for their kids," Turkish said.

After she sees a patient for the first time, Turkish asks the parent to bring the child back so she can counsel him or her about some of these problem areas.

Turkish is one of a very small handful of pediatricians who offers gynecological exams for teenagers.

She said teens today have many health-related problems to deal with. She listed obesity, drugs, smoking and getting pregnant as just a few.

Turkish is offering free physical exams for children and teenagers. She encourages parents to bring their children in for this service.

Medicaid, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, most group insurances and HMOs are accepted by Turkish. She is also willing to set up a payment plan equivalent to what a person can afford if necessary.

The 15-year pediatrics veteran, who works more than 100 hours a week, hopes to get another doctor in the office eventually, and extend her hours. Currently her office is only open two nights a week, but she would like to be open every night of the week.

"So that dads and working moms can bring their children in after work," she said.

Bud's celebrates 35th anniversary

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

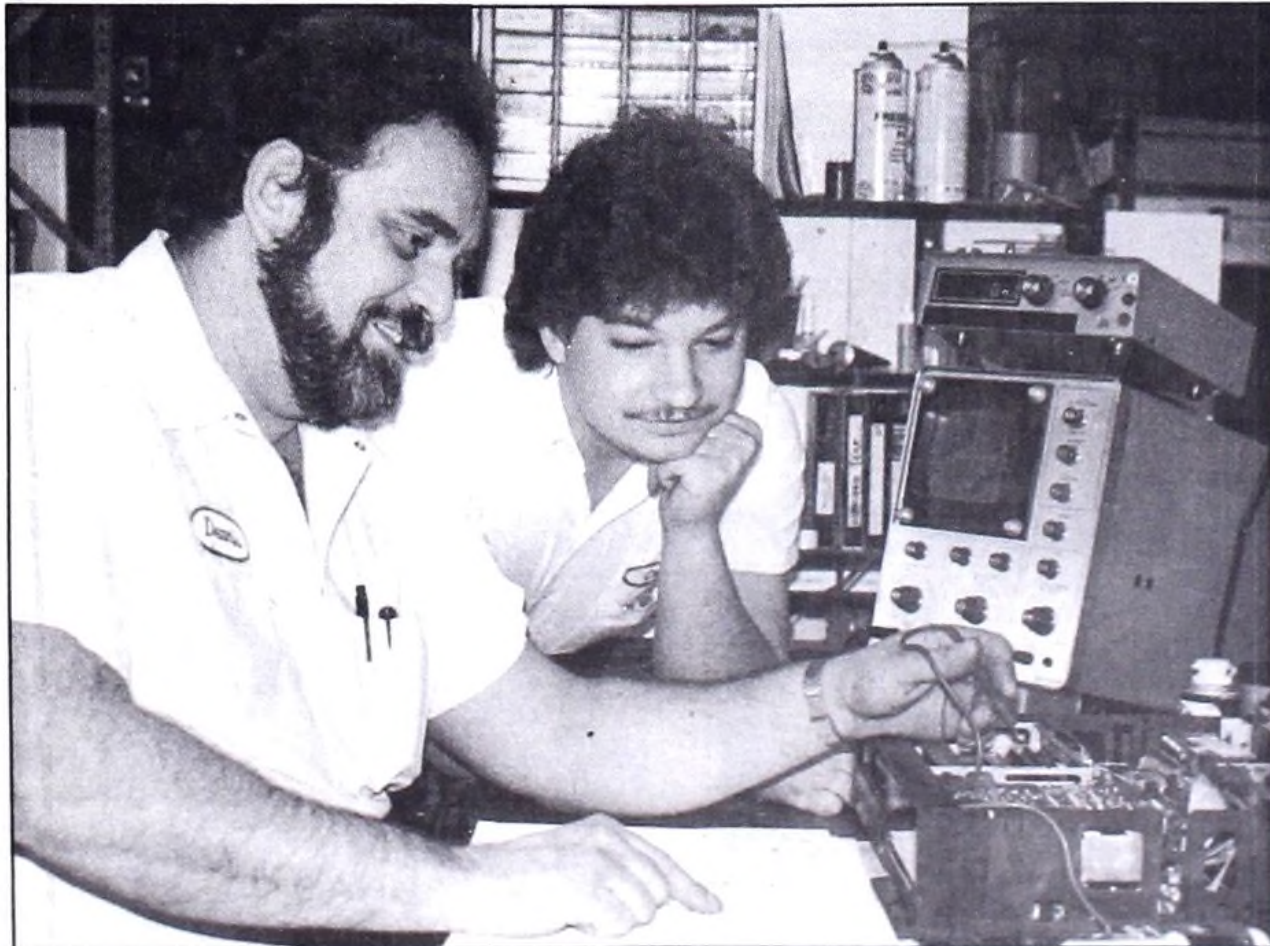

Special offers and events will mark the 35th anniversary of Bud's TV and Repair this month, but it will still be "business as usual" at 1136 Sumpter Road, Belleville.

"Many things have changed in the television industry since 1955. Today, we have VCRs, complex stereo systems, digital controls plus better sound and definition," said manager Patricia Birbeck, "but we still pride ourselves on retaining the same values and commitment to community service that we have had since Bud Brown opened the store."

The 35th anniversary observance will be a "hometown celebration," Birbeck said, focusing on the quality, service and competitive prices that are available to area residents "in their own back yard."

Brown, the founder of the television sales and service company, was active in the Belleville Rotary Club and served as president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce. His employees continue to follow his example of community service and commitment.

Birbeck, a 23-year employee, serves on the BACC, volunteers her time for the annual Strawberry Festival and serves as president of the Belleville Area Goodfellows. Technicians Chris Ostrowski, who has worked for Bud's for five and one-half years, and Dennis

Dennis Chie and Chris Ostrowski are technicians at Bud's TV in Belleville. All employees of the store, which celebrates its 35th anniversary this week, have a strong commitment to the city, and are involved in many civic activities. ANP photo by Joan Dyer-Zinner

Chie also volunteer their services to the Goodfellows and other community services.

When Brown and his wife, Jeannette, retired to Arizona 12 years ago, they made a commitment to keep their store open to serve the community and to continue to provide jobs for local residents.

"Bud's always believed that our biggest asset is our community," Birbeck said. "We still believe that, and that is why we feel obligated to continue to provide the friendly, 'corner store' atmosphere and extra services to our customers."

Bud's TV offers free delivery, set-ups by technicians and a warranty on Zenith television sets which include one year of service, one year of parts and a five-year picture tube guarantee at no extra charge, Birbeck said.

Postal services add up

While officials of the U.S. Post Office are demanding increases in the postage rate - from 25 to 30 cents per letter - they are anxiously working to justify the increase through public relations campaigns and the addition of new services.

The board of governors of the U.S. Postal Service recently authorized filing for a rate increase. If approved by the Postal Rate Commission, the rates would be effective February 1991.

Postal officials claim increased operating costs make the increase necessary, and insist that first-class postage remains a communications bargain.

In addition to the 30-cent first-class rate increase, other classes of mail will also see an average increase of 19 percent.

The Post Office, according to statistics, ended the last fiscal year with a surplus of $61 million, and its first quarter of fiscal year 1990 indicates a surplus of $404 million. Greater operating costs, however, are expected to create a deficit of $1.4 billion for the current year, according to postal officials.

Postmaster General Anthony Frank promises, with these increases approved, that the postal service will keep increases in its cost at or below the rate of general inflation through 1995.

"Even at 30 cents, postage is one of America's best buys," Frank said. "but only if we are providing good service. Then the average American won't mind paying $10 or $11 more a year in postage under the new rates."

Along with the increased cost, postal officials will be implementing programs to encourage customers to prepare mail in a manner compatible with processing systems. The postal service is implementing new state-of-the-art optical character readers and bar code sorter in major mail-processing centers. Mailers who apply bar codes to first-class and third-class letters, according to officials, will receive the lowest rates in those classes.

College president installed

Thomas Sullivan, the former executive dean of the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College, was inaugurated as ninth president of Cleary College in ceremonies conducted March 14 at the Washenaw Campus of the college.

"The challenge of my first several months at the college has been surpassed by the opportunities that await us and the rewards that Cleary College offers," Sullivan said. "Students, trustees, employees have all welcomed me with enthusiastic support. More importantly, they have energetically joined with me to move Cleary in new directions for the 21st century."

In addition to serving as executive dean at the Western Campus, Sullivan also was the former director of budget and management at WCCC. His professional career includes teaching English and mathematics at Schoolcraft College and serving as housing director at Eastern Michigan University for several years.

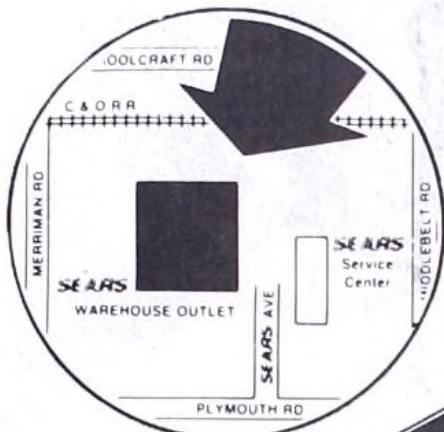

Cleary College, an independent four-year college of business, was founded in 1883. The college has campuses in Washenaw and Livingston counties and an extension program at the Milan Federal Correctional Institution.

Everything you need to close down a crackhouse.

You aren't helpless when crime invades your neighborhood. You're fully capable of helping police and they're ready to show you how.

The Case of The Stanton Park Stand-off.

When crack moved into a row house on a quiet block of Stanton Park in Washington, D.C., folks decided to serve an eviction notice.

They met with police to find out what they could do to keep drugs out of their neighborhood.

The cops told them to keep an eye out—to let police know whenever something suspicious happened. They began to notice faces. They wrote down license numbers of strange cars. They noted the times of odd behavior.

They worked with the police. Armed with field glasses, note pads and telephones, folks kept track of the neighborhood.

Within one month, enough evidence had been gathered. Police moved in. Crack moved out.

Citizen participation beat crime in D.C. It can do the same for you. For more success stories, write The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20539-0001.

Police become even more responsive when their people are their partners. Together we can help...

Measles outbreak avoids Wayne County for now

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Officials from the Wayne County Health Department are keeping an eye on outbreaks of the measles that have occurred in the western and northern portions of Michigan.

"Seventy-five percent of all communicable disease reports usually occur in the southeastern portion of Michigan, which includes Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties," said Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director for the Wayne County Health Department.

There have been 220 cases of rubeola measles reported this year so far in the state, according to Lawrenchuk. Only one case has been reported in Wayne County, and Lawrenchuk believes the one case involved a college student who is a resident of Wayne County, but attends college in another county.

"We've been very fortunate so far this year," Lawrenchuk said.

Rubeola measles is referred to as "hard measles." It is highly communicable and has an attack rate of 90 percent.

Anyone who is susceptible to it has a 90 percent chance of developing Rubeola measles. Those most likely to be infected by measles are individuals who haven't received the vaccine, and those who have not had the disease, Lawrenchuk said.

"Rubeola is the most serious strain of measles," he said. "For every 100 cases of rubeola, there is at least one death," Lawrenchuk said.

Although Wayne County hasn't been hit with an outbreak of rubeola yet this year, officials expect that to change soon. According to the National Center of Disease Control in Atlanta, an outbreak of rubeola is considered as such when there is "more cases than what you would expect to occur in a given area."

"We don't expect to see any cases of rubeola in this area, so one case would constitute an epidemic," Lawrenchuk said.

Rubeola is caused by a virus that is spread through respiratory droplets. The droplets are usually spread from coughing or sneezing, and from direct contact with the contaminated person.

Symptoms include a fever of 101 degrees or higher, and a generalized raised, red rash over the face and body.

Lawrenchuk said the rash usually lasts three or more days and typically starts on the face and spreads.

Along with the above two symptoms there must be at least one of the following three: cough; conjunctivitis, which is red, watery eyes; or runny nose, according to Lawrenchuk.

When an outbreak does occur, the health department must institute what they refer to as "outbreak control protocol." This means any student or staff member at a school, would have to be born before Jan. 1, 1957, in order to continue attending school.

"If not, they must be excluded unless they have written verification of having had the measles vaccine, when they were 15 months or older, or documented verification of having had the measles (rubeola)," Lawrenchuk said.

For those who aren't sure if they had the immunization for the measles, Lawrenchuk said they can have a blood test done to check for the rubeola antibodies in their blood.

"Anyone born prior to Jan. 1, 1957 has very likely been exposed to the measles (rubeola) and would be considered immune," he said. "Prior to 1957, there was no vaccine and virtually everybody, unless you lived on some remote tropical island, came down with the measles."

The group being targeted as most likely to be infected are those individuals of junior high school age through 30s, Lawrenchuk said.

Lawrenchuk suggests those individuals check with their physicians or medical records to see when they were vaccinated.

"We're urging all parents and people to check their immunization records," Lawrenchuk said.

Free vaccinations are offered by the Wayne County Health Department.

Seniors meet to discuss issues

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Senior citizens are invited to participate in Senior Power Day, an annual event staged in Lansing May 15 at the Lansing Civic Arena.

The 1990 event will focus on health-related issues, according to planners.

"It's a very informative day for those people who attend," said Linda Kimball, the event organizer.

Lou Glasse, president of the Older Woman's League, will be the keynote speaker.

Glasse is an expert on long-term health care and pension programs. She is expected to focus her remarks on health-related concerns, according to Kimball.

A Consumers Fair will be staged, and seniors will be able to try free product samples made available by many of the exhibitors.

"Seniors will be able to stop by and enjoy an ice cream cone from the Kroger booth, and the Consumers Power booth will be handing out flower seeds," Kimball said.

"There will be a lot of freebies," she added.

Many of the booths will offer consumer information. Because Senior Power Day focuses on health, there will be some booths offering free health screenings.

Gov. James J. Blanchard will also address seniors, along with many legislators. Some lawmakers will actually be serving lunch to the group.

A traditional march to the Capitol will be staged after the morning program. Then there will be a short program on the steps of the Capitol.

"It's a day-long event, that is really quite informative," Kimball said. "It's also a fun event."

Seniors who attend will have the opportunity to participate in a public hearing conducted by a joint legislative committee.

The honorary chairman of the event is Neal Shine, a retired editor from the Detroit Free Press.

Shine will distribute awards to the winners of the high school essay contest sponsored by Senior Power Day.

The award-winning entry will be printed in the program, the Herald.

Those interested in attending the event can contact their local senior alliance group or senior citizens center. It is free, but a donation of $2 will help to cover the lunch.

LOCAL NEWS DIGEST

Councilman attends conference

Wayne City Councilman Thomas H. Kelly recently returned from a National League of Cities conference in Washington D.C. that focused on a set of legislative priorities for the coming year and began to examine the issues involved with a "peace dividend" for cities in the 1990s. The four-day meeting brought nearly 3,000 municipal leaders to Washington.

Scholars awarded

Minority scholarships valued at $27,000 from seven local colleges were presented Tuesday by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

The awards were donated from the McNamara Charity Fund which was created in 1988 for charitable and philanthropic purposes.

The money is collected from McNamara's annual golf outing.

Older workers award offered

Nominations are being sought for the Distinguished Employers Award.

Offered as part of National Older Workers Week, March 11 to 17, the award is presented to Michigan employers who recognize older workers as an important part of their personnel structure and hire or retain them on their payrolls.

For more information, call 443-0370 or (517) 373-4068.

Magic Ride hosted locally

The first Metro Area Magic Ride, a fundraising drive and bicycle tour to support the prevention of child abuse and neglect, will be staged May 12 in Canton Township.

This is the first Magic Ride event staged in southeast Michigan. Riders will have a choice of four routes of varying distances for both the experienced bicyclist and novice riders. Money will be collected in pledges by riders.

The ride will start between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. May 12 at the Canton Township Recreation Complex. All riders must return by 3 p.m. A free lunch and t-shirt will go to those who register before April 21.

Teachers to meet locally

Social studies teachers and school administrators are invited to participate in a social studies curriculum improvement workshop March 19 at the Wayne County Intermediate School District Office on Van Born Road.

The workshop, sponsored by the state Department of Education, is designed to assist kindergarten through 12th-grade social studies teachers in gaining greater understanding of the scope of the social sciences and improve their instruction in geography, history and government.

To register, call Don Griffin at 467-1581.

Solid waste meeting set

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments will stage a seminar March 28 entitled "Local Opportunities in Solid Waste Management."

The seminar is open to the public with a registration fee of $25 which covers lunch.

For more information, call 283-9753.

Highway sign issue debated

A special Senate subcommittee public hearing will be staged March 19 in Detroit to discuss the recent collapse of a highway sign in Dearborn, which killed a woman.

The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. March 19 at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, 5780 Evergreen. The public is invited to attend.

Residents are needed to fill census jobs

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

The U.S. Census Bureau district office in Dearborn is looking to fill nearly 1,000 temporary positions for the upcoming 1990 Census, the recruiting operations supervisor said.

The Dearborn district office will be responsible for the accurate counting of the population of western Wayne County and the Downriver areas of southeastern Michigan.

Some of the needed personnel have already been put on the payroll, said office supervisor Siham Awada Jaafar, but the majority of the positions won't be filled until after Census Day, April 1.

"We are mostly looking for crew leaders and enumerators," Jaafar said. "The clerical positions are mostly filled, but there are still a few positions available."

The position of enumerator is an important one, Jaafar said, because enumerators collect data from households that have failed to respond to the census questionnaire. The bureau will send the questionnaires to every address in the country March 23. Enumerators will follow-up the mailing with personal visits to homes and other dwellings missed by the mailing.

The job pays $7 per hour and has a flexible work schedule. Jaafar said the applicant should be willing to work 30 to 40 hours per week, but would be considered if willing to work 20 to 30 hours. The job could last from two weeks to eight months, Jaafar said.

Crew leaders are also being sought, Jaafar said, to supervise the enumerators in the field. Both positions work from their homes and are reimbursed for mileage, Jaafar said. Crew leader applicants should have supervisory experience and good organizational skills. The crew leaders provide support for the enumerators in the field, Jaafar said.

The crew leader position warrants $8 per hour.

"We try to assign people in the field areas close to their own homes," Jaafar said.

The clerical positions pay $6.25 per hour and are at the Dearborn district office at 6861 Wyoming in Dearborn. Jaafar said clerical workers are asked to work 40 hour work weeks.

If interested in a temporary census job, call 943-4170.

Commissioner Mack is honored

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack has been named the "Outstanding Elected Official" of the year by the Detroit Metropolitan Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

"It's very flattering," Mack said. "It's nice to be recognized by a group that advocates good government."

Mack's leadership in environmental and county reform issues in Wayne County were cited by ASPA officials as a major factor in his selection. Mack, 41, is currently chairman of the Wayne County Solid Waste Committee, and is credited with playing a major role in preparing a solid waste plan for the county.

"We have released the plan to the county executive's office," Mack said. "We're waiting for the report to then go to the board of commissioners. The executive seems very supportive of the plan."

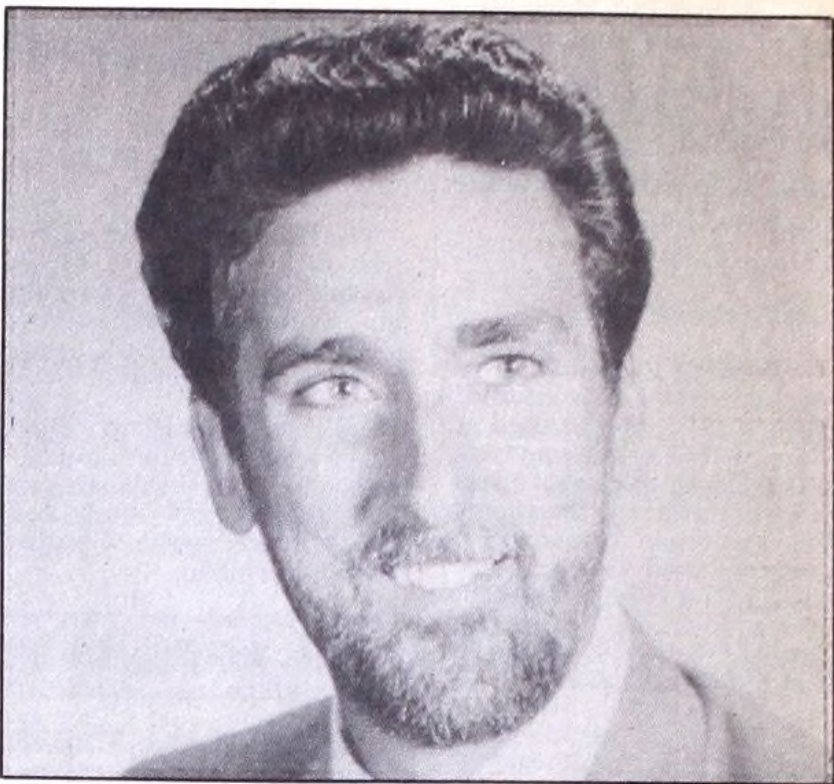

Mack also led a drive and authored a county charter amendment to eliminate the Office of Drain Commissioner and reorganize the delivery of drain services. His efforts resulted in the cancellation of more than $1 million in drain assessments against homeowners.

"I was elected by the people. If a county agency is abusing Mack's first elected position in government was in 1977 when he was elected to the Wayne city council. At 29, Mack was the youngest councilmember in the history of Wayne. In 1979 he was selected by his peers on the council as the Mayor Pro-Tem and won reelection to the council in 1981.

Mack left the city politics of Wayne in 1982 and was elected to the Wayne County Commission. He won re-election in 1984 and 1988 without opposition, and won the 1986 election against Republican Scott Press with 67 percent of the vote.

Mack received his bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1972 and his law degree from Wayne State University in 1975. He has been a practicing attorney for the firm of Tucker, Barbour and Mack in Detroit since 1976.

Youth nominees are sought for honor

By DIANNE THOMAS
ANP News Editor

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) is looking for a few good young men and women.

The congressman is now accepting nominations for his annual medal of merit for outstanding youth.

The award program seeks to acknowledge outstanding young people for volunteerism, acts of heroism, or humanitarian acts.

Among the 1989 award recipients were Coretta Bell of Wayne, Cara Lynn Cichowski of Romulus, and Shannon Taylor of Westland.

Coretta Bell, who was 18 when she was honored, was recognized for her involvement in a community group called the "Peppermints," which helped senior citizens. As a Peppermint volunteer, Coretta visited seniors in their homes or convalescent centers, often bringing along gifts she had made herself.

She was also cited for her work as music teacher at her church, where she served as director assistant of the children's choir.

Cara Lynn was 17 when she received recognition for her leadership role in the development and promotion of a district-wide symposium dealing with student problems in Romulus. The program drew more than 200 participants including elected officials, business people, parents, and students.

Among Cara's other involvements worthy of note were her activities at school as student government president.

Shannon Taylor was 15 when she was singled out for her involvement with a local food drive that helped provide holiday baskets to needy families during the Christmas season.

In addition, Shannon helped out at school, planning dances and pep rallies and serving as student council president.

In a statement issued last week, Rep. Ford said, "I continue to believe that this is an excellent way to honor some of our truly outstanding young people whose activities and accomplishments too often have gone unnoticed and unrecorded."

In order to qualify as nominees, a youth must be age 14 to 22 and be a resident of the 15th congressional district. The work for which the youth is nominated must be performed in a strictly volunteer capacity.

In addition to honoring individuals, group nominations are accepted.

Last year, Ford acknowledged the work of the Speech Stars of Belleville. These students from Belleville High School appeared at a variety of adult and school community organizations, giving talks about illegal drug use, millage elections, drunken driving and capital punishment.

Awards for acts of heroism will also be presented.

Previous young heroes include Jennifer McCarthy of Westland, who had just turned 14 when she was recognized in 1988. Jennifer had been involved in an accident in which the van she was traveling in slid into a ditch and caught fire.

Jennifer remained level-headed and assisted in the rescue of the younger passengers. She also helped calm the children and kept order until everyone was safe.

Nominations are being accepted for youth aged 14 to 18, for youth 18 to 22, and for youth groups with participants ages 14 to 22.

Nominations may be made by individuals or organizations. Forms for submitting nominations may be obtained at Ford's district office.

Dr. Gupta is a gastroenterologist and principal investigator for Biliary Lithotripsy at Oakwood Hospital.

A new frontier—Lithotripsy treatment for Gallstones

By Anil Gupta, M.D., F.A.C.G.

There is new hope on the horizon for the more than 25 million Americans suffering from gallstone disease. It is biliary (gallstone) lithotripsy, a promising new procedure that soon may be an alternative to surgery for some patients.

NEW CLINICAL STUDY

Lithotripsy has been used effectively on kidney stones for the past six years. However, treating gallstones in this manner only recently has been approved for clinical study in the United States. (West Germany has used this procedure since 1985).

Oakwood Hospital is one of 10 hospitals in the country selected to work with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in a one-year, 27-patient clinical investigation of the Siemens Lithostar Plus Extracorporeal Shockwave Lithotripsy System.

DETAILS OF PROCEDURE

This treatment is painless and takes just one to two hours to complete. The patient is mildly sedated, the gallstones are located through the use of an ultrasound machine, and shockwaves pulverize and break up the stones. The number of shockwaves required to pulverize the stones varies with each patient.

Following treatment, the stone fragments pass from the gallbladder into the small intestine and are eliminated through the digestive tract or are dissolved by medication.

ADVANTAGES

Gallstones can be more difficult to treat than kidney stones because of their location, but there are advantages of lithotripsy over conventional surgery. It can be performed on an outpatient basis with little or no hospitalization required, and little or no anesthesia used.

This procedure is being done at Oakwood Hospital on selected research candidates. For further information, call 593-7388.

Opinion

Image of area is bombarded

In recent weeks, it seems western Wayne County has been hit by a barrage of publicity which has negatively affected the image of the area.

Perhaps these are hints that we, the residents of the communities that make up western Wayne County, need to be more aware of the image we project, and work to improve that picture.

Few favors have been granted, however, in the area of image-making during recent weeks.

First, the mayor of Westland is pictured on the front page of the Detroit Free Press - in living color no less - in his bathroom at city hall.

Secondly, Detroit Monthly magazine referred to the area as Aportia and residents as hillbillies. The magazine article paints a picture of boozing factory workers with no brains and no social grace.

So, maybe western Wayne County has not embraced the more cosmopolitan habits of residents of Birmingham or Bloomfield Hills. The communities have come along way in terms of establishing livable and comfortable housing, good schools and a more intellectual slant.

It is better than it once was folks, so give the area some credit.

At the same time, how good can our image be if the area continues to be the brunt of such digs? Perhaps, we let them get away with it.

Why would the mayor ever put himself in the position of having his picture taken in the bathroom? The photo and the image it portrayed was damaging to the community. The mayor of Westland occupies a position of power. Residents of the community had enough confidence in the man to elect him to office.

So where does that put us? In the toilet so to speak?

The mayor has been portrayed as a brunt of jokes and a laughing-stock. Therefore, the people of Westland who elected him may be portrayed as a bunch of hicks who were willing to elect a "clown".

Why do we continue to be complacent about taking advantage of the finer things in life?

Wake up, and enjoy all life has to offer from fine literature to fine films. Let us show our neighbors that the residents of western Wayne County can also be refined and wise to the ways of the world. Be on guard, and avoid those things which make us easy prey for such elitists.

Let us reach for the next step on the ladder to an improved image for western Wayne County.

How far can the post office go?

U.S. postal officials are again asking for an increase in the price of a first-class stamp, as well as all other postage rates.

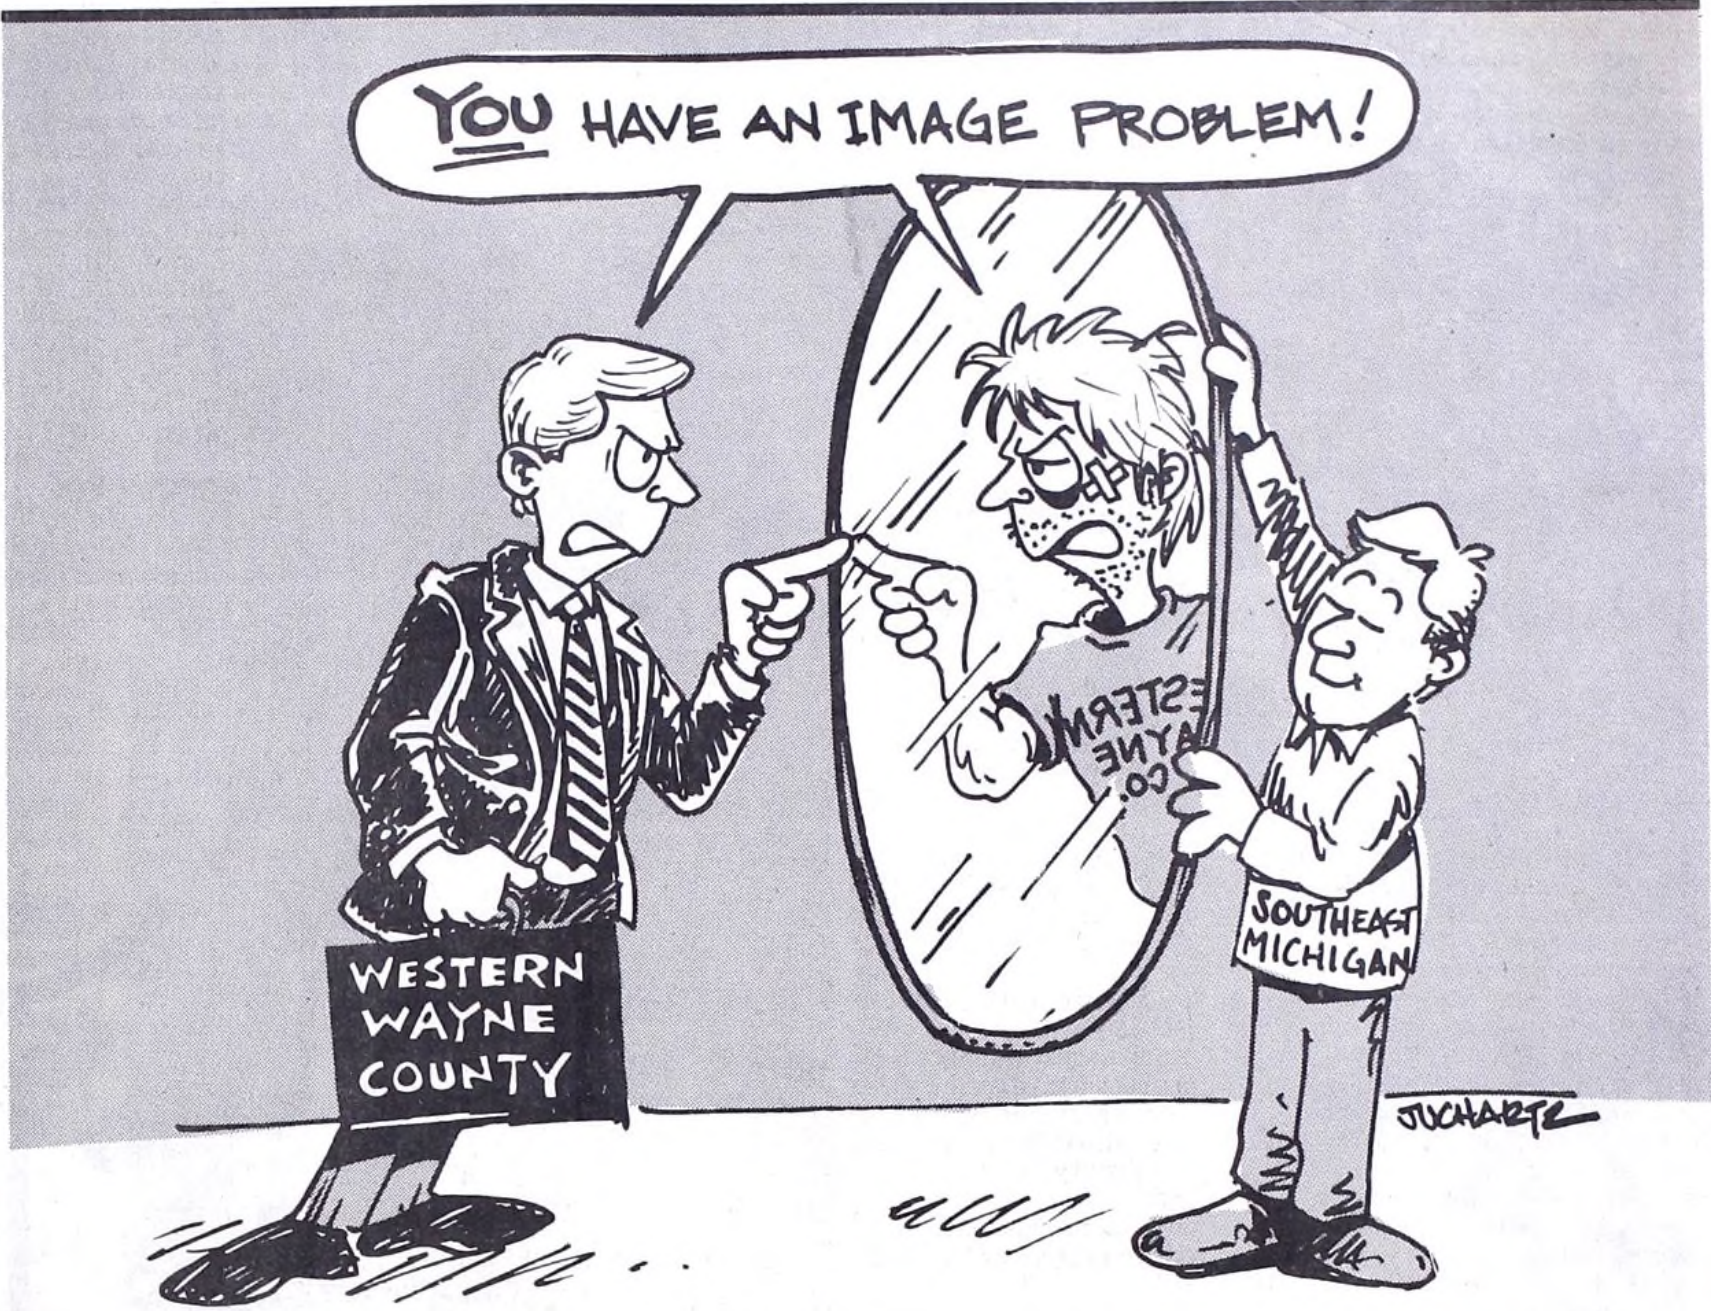

If receiving the approval, you and I will spend 30 cents for each bill, letter or card we send in the mail. What is to prevent the price of that first-class stamp from climbing to $1 or $1.50?

Consider how much your family will spend in postage annually at those rates.

The postal service has us caught between a rock and a hard place. There are no other means for having our correspondence delivered from one place to the other. Facsimile machines are becoming more popular, but not everyone can afford one and until each household and business is equipped with one it will not be a full-proof means for delivering messages. Some individuals are paying their bills via computers, but that too is not available to everyone as an alternative.

Perhaps by relinquishing the "added services" which, of course, do not impact the price of postage, we can cut the cost of the stamp. Let's get rid of the philatelic boutiques and the automated tellers, and the post offices in malls and supermarkets.

All we really need is a stamp we can afford.

Bravo, John Glenn

I would like to congratulate Mr. Logan, Mr. Topolski, and Mr. Sutton for the outstanding job they did on Sunday, February 11. John Glenn High School, Stevenson, and Marshall Junior High School bands put on a concert at Cherry Hill High School with all three bands playing together. They did a great job. It was inspiring to see three hundred young adults so well behaved and talented. The band instructors should be commended for the time, effort, and patience that has been put into their music programs. These are the kinds of programs Wayne-Westland schools should be proud of. We cannot afford to jeopardize these types of programs and our children's education. We must all work together to support our schools.

Point not taken

Concerning Ms. Hall's letter to the editor printed Feb. 8, 1990 titled "Failed March Proves Point", we've read in the Right to Life "type" newsletters that the official estimates for this year's Right to Life March in Washington were between 100,000 and 200,000 which is a bit more than the 35-75,000 figure quoted by Ms. Hall.

We just wanted to point out

that maybe all the pro-abortion "points" that were made, based on the lower figures, may not be so "proved" after all.

We also would like the readers of the Westland Eagle to know that Right to Life is alive and well, and will continue to defend the rights of the unborn. We have made good progress in recent years, and will continue our efforts to expand upon this success.

What is happening?

I would like to know what is happening to the City of Inkster. I do know a lot of people here do have children who have bikes, or tricycles. Well, if a tire goes flat on the bike they ask their father, brother, or someone if they can fix it for them. Now in order to fix it you may have to turn the bike upside down. After you start that repair job most kids gave the other wheel a spin just to hear the noise that is caused by the stick they are touching the spokes with, so they can hear that klinkety-klunkety sound. Now if you turn that noise into a rat-a-tat-tat noise it will sound exactly like the so called Mayor Joseph Davis Jr.! What is wrong with you Mr. Davis? Are you afraid that if you talk slower the people will be able to understand you and they will disagree with you? I myself think a person is further ahead staying home and just reading the Inkster Ledger-Star. That way a person doesn't have to worry about getting shot or killed on the way to or from a meeting. (Oh that life-saving Inkster Ledger-Star.)

Oh, it is so good to sit here and read the paper at home (at least a person can understand it, safe and sound). The World's Fair needs auctioneers. Go there and the city can get another mayor that will talk so the people will understand what is being said. By the way, what happened to the National Guard you were going to call into your city? The dope is still here in town, and the guns also are!!

Response to letter

In response to "Sex brings in money."

"Reach for Bleach" and "Think before you drink" do not come from a "sexually oriented business." They come, from a business of realists. The people who are producing these commercials have realized (along with everyone else, wake up) that just telling someone to "just say no" is not enough to keep that baby from getting AIDS or to keep a junkie from shooting up. People are going to have sex. They're people. It's natural. And unfortunately as long as there are drugs around, people will shoot up. The fear of AIDS is not going to stop either of these things. People get over fear. So, we are informed by these commercials of how to minimize the unfortunate consequences of our "careless" actions. If everyone were to abstain from drugs we would still be plagued by the AIDS epidemic. It's always going to be there. So then, what's next? Are you going to start asking humans to do the unnatural and not have sex? A more logical approach would be to ask that everyone use the good sense of judgement God gave them and use precautionary measures. Condoms. This is exactly what these television commercials are asking.

As for your "children's lives" it is your responsibility to inform your children of what is out there and teach them how to make wise decisions BEFORE they need to buy bleach or condoms. And BEFORE they take that first trip to jail for drunk driving.

Our world is not perfect but we can all do our part to keep it from being a total ruin. And that means, use condoms, use bleach and teach your children to know the consequences of their actions and make careful, wise decisions.

Romulus reigns as district champion

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After two close and hard-fought victories in the preliminary round, a worn and tired Romulus managed to hang on to beat a determined and upset-minded Taylor Kennedy, 71-63, Friday night before a sellout house to win the Class A District 4 basketball championship.

It wasn't easy for Coach Chris Molloy and the Eagles, who trailed Kennedy most of the game. Romulus erupted for 31 points in the final eight minutes to salt the title away.

During the regular season, the Eagles had no problem with Kennedy. They trounced their nonconference rival by 20 points.

"We looked tired," said Molloy of the team performance in the finals. "After those close games with Belleville and Taylor Truman, I didn't know if we had enough left. The kids struggled, but they won it."

Although Romulus has won the last three district titles, it was the first district championship for the first-year Eagle coach.

"These kids always seem to come through when you least expect them to," Molloy said. "They have earned the respect of their school and their community. However, the road ahead isn't going to be easy - they know it, and the coaching staff knows it, too.

"But, I would have to say that this (title) wouldn't have been possible without the help of my two assistant coaches (Marcus Harris and Mike Kowalski)," Molloy added.

Romulus knocked off Belle-

Kennedy advanced into the finals, bringing with it an eight-game winning streak.

Kennedy also proved to be a worthy opponent in the finals. Led by Gerald Daniels, Taylor erased a 17-10 first-period deficit and grabbed the lead 32-27 at halftime as Daniels pumped in nine of his game-high 19 points in that stanza.

Although Romulus closed the gap to 41-40 after three periods, it wasn't after senior guard Virgil Davis, handicapped by early foul problems, brought the Eagles back.

Davis and teammate Abu Hamilton combined for 21 of their 31 points to help the champs overcome their final district opponents. Davis accounted for 10 points and Hamilton sank 11 in that pivotal period.

"I believe that our press wore them down," Molloy said. "Also Virgil took control of the game - he was in foul trouble early, so he sat out most of the first half."

Davis finished with five baskets and seven of 11 free throws for a team-high 17 points, while Hamilton contributed 15 and teammate Larry Perkins had 14. Kelvin Brown rounded out the Eagles' balanced scoring assault with 10.

On the other side of the scoring sheet, Kennedy also placed four players in double figures.

Chambers' 3-point basket in overtime saves Eagles

John Chambers sank a three-point basket with less than a minute to play in overtime to lift defending Class A district champ Romulus to a cliffhanging 67-65 victory over Taylor Truman in the semifinal round of the playoffs Feb. 7.

The victory opened the doors to the finals for Romulus, and ended the season for Taylor Truman.

Romulus, struggling and trailing most of the second half, couldn't shake the pesky Truman, who made it hot for Coach Chris Molloy's cagers right down to the final seconds.

Abu Hamilton resurrected the champs in the closing second of regulation play when he sank the front end of a one-and-one. That tied the score at 63-all. The issue was almost settled in Romulus favor when senior captain Virgil Davis stole the inbound Truman pass and headed for the basket. He missed the shot, forcing the issue to a three-minute extra period.

periods, setting the stage for the nail-biting finish.

McKinney emerged with the individual scoring honors as he sank five baskets and made nine of 13 free throws for a game-high 19 points. Truman also received 17 points from Williams, while Shaw added 11. Truman made 20 of 30 free throws.

Romulus countered with Hamilton's 16 points; Davis had 15 while Kevin Brown and Chambers contributed 11 and 10 points, respectively. The Eagles sank 24 of their 36 free throw opportunities.

Truman made it to the semifinals with an eight-game winning streak. The victory was Romulus' ticket to the championship round where they met and defeated another Taylor team, Kennedy.

Truman drew blood first as Kevin McKinney sank a short jumper, giving the visitors a 65-63 lead. The Eagles, however, delivered the ball to Chambers, who released it from about 20-foot out. It found its mark.

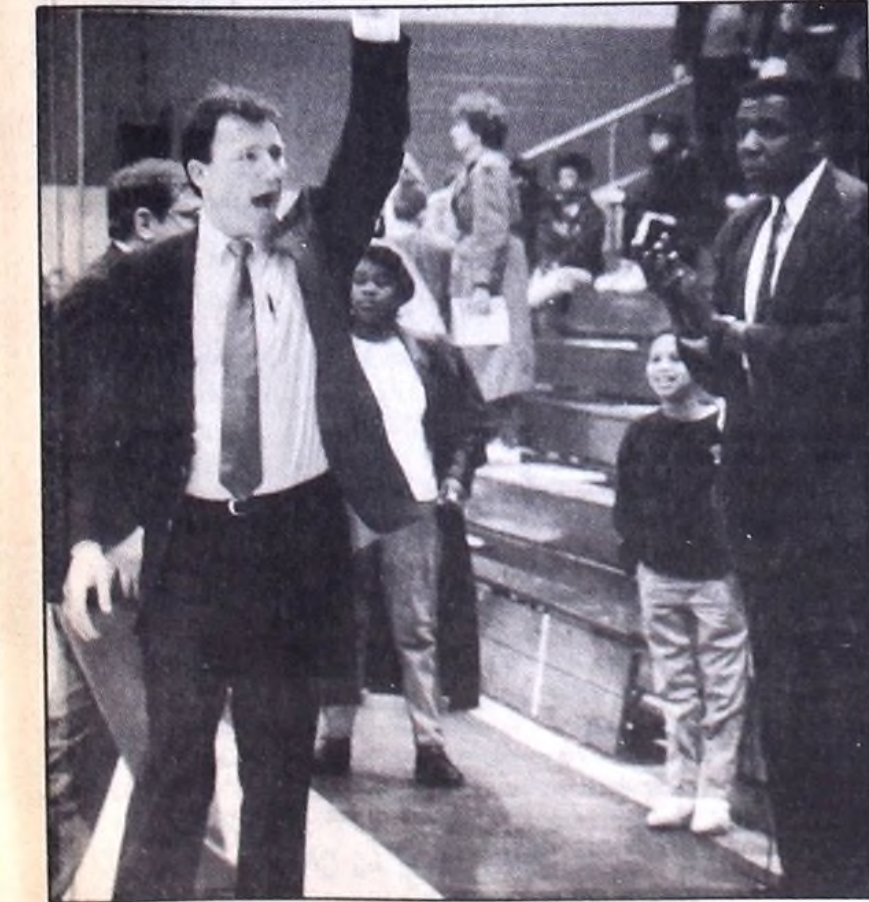

Romulus' Larry Perkins was fouled after Truman missed a chance to tie the score again. Perkins canned the front end of the free throw with seven seconds left.

The two archrivals played to a 12-all tie for the first eight minutes, then Abu Hamilton and Davis sparked a second-period rally that gave the Eagles a three-point, 30-27, cushion at halftime. Truman and Coach Van Kostegian came back with a balanced scoring assault in the final two stanzas as McKinney, joined by Darnell Williams and Cornell Shaw, kept the outcome of the game in doubt with their baskets.

'The pits' Inkster ousted by Willow Run, 70 - 54

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Unfortunately for the Vikings of Inkster High and Coach George Thompson Jr., they saved their worst for the last.

Missing on easy layups and percentage shots, the Vikings bowed Friday to rejuvenated Willow Run, 70-54, in the championship round of the Class B district playoffs at Robichaud High School.

"We picked the worst time to play our worst game," moaned Thompson, whose Vikings had split with the Flyers during the course of the Suburban Athletic Conference season. "We had key players in foul trouble early, and we played catch-up after the first quarter."

Boosted by the return of two of their formerly ineligible players, Willow Run bolted from a 14-12 first-period deficit to take the lead, 30-25, at the halfway mark, and the champs never surrendered the lead again.

With 6-9 center Athiah Reed at the Flyers' control switch, the visitors outscored their league rival, 22-13, in the third quarter that all but sounded the knell for the Vikings. Inkster helped in its own demise by missing two easy layups - confidence shatters - in the first seconds of the third period. They never fully recovered.

Led by Reed, the Flyers increased their advantage by 14 points (52-38) as the fourth and final period began for Inkster.

"We lost our poise and confidence after we blew those two easy layups," Thompson pointed out, "and, though we were still fairly close, we never got the lead back."

The loss left the Vikings with a 13-9 won-lost record for the 1989-90 campaign.

Reed topped all scorers. He had 11 field goals and five of eight at the free throw line for 27 points. Teammate Davis Latin also was good for double figures. He had 20.

Inkster's best was turned in by Tyron Orr, who tossed in 14 points. Jermaine Jackson counted 11 and Michael Herrington chipped in 10 for the Vikings who made 16 of 22 from the free throw line. The Flyers were on target with 14 of their 22 foul shots.

The victory qualifies the Flyers for the Class B regional championships which they will host this week. In the first round the Suburban Athletic Conference representative will clash with Tecumseh. That game was scheduled for last night. The winner will meet the winner of the Tuesday night game, (Monroe CC and Gabriel Richard) at 7 p.m. Friday.

It's all over

The stars will be out and shining on these pages during the next couple of weeks as the Associated Newspapers unveils its All-Area teams and Coaches of the Year. ## Did Inkster cagers self-destruct?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was easy - too easy - according to Inkster Coach George Thompson Jr. Inkster crushed Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 86-40, in the semifinal round of the Class B basketball playoffs at Robichaud to advance to the championship.

"When you blow a team away like that, it could come back to haunt. It makes you feel uneasy about the next one."

The next one for the Vikings - Willow Run - proved to be the last one for the 1989-90 basketball campaign. The Flyers whipped their Suburban Athletic Conference rivals to walk off with the district crown and a ticket to the regionals.

Against Annapolis, Thompson had the luxury to utilize all of his players. The Vikings grabbed a 10-point, 17-7, first-period lead, and never had to look back. With 10 players making it into the scoring column, Inkster had a lopsided 46-20 lead at the half, then went on

'Payne-ful' Huron's dream of a 'Cinderella' playoffs ends

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The New Boston Huron dream of a "Cinderella" playoff was shattered Friday night as Monroe St. Mary's, behind the record-shattering performance by Paul Payne, buried the Chiefs 72-52 to win the Class B District Basketball Championship at Monroe Jefferson.

An unheralded Huron, which arrived on the district scene with only three previous victories, surprised Monroe Jefferson and Ypsilanti Lincoln in the preliminary rounds to reach the finals. The two-game winning streak was the longest of the season for interim head coach Terry Suemnick and the Chiefs.

Suemnick took over for head coach Larry Swick during the Christmas holidays in the wake of a school board-Swick controversy sparked by players who the head coach had suspended due to disciplinary reasons.

St. Mary's advanced to the regional playoffs at Willow Run, where they were scheduled to play Riverview Gabriel Richard Tuesday in the first round. Tecumseh clashed with Willow Run last night, and the two winners play for the championship Friday.

Huron could not stop Payne Friday night. In fact, the way the Monroe sharpshooter was launching his long-range missiles, it's doubtful anyone could have silenced the senior gunner that night.

He scored a career-high and school-record 40 points - nine of 14 baskets were from three-point range.

"He (Payne) turned in a phenomenal performance," said Suemnick, whose club brought the curtains down on a 5-17 season. "I felt we played well, however, it is obvious that our efforts were overshadowed by his (Payne's) brilliant effort."

St. Mary's took a 22-10 first-period lead, but the Chiefs came back on the strength of Matt Holtan's 10 second-period points to cut the margin of difference to 37-31 at the half.

Payne had a burst of energy after the half. He exploded for 16 to spark a 31-point Monroe third period that left Huron in their wake by 21 points.

With a comfortable 68-47 advantage heading into the final period, St. Mary's put down any retaliatory effort by the Chiefs without much sweat.

Payne made 14 field goals - nine from three-point range - and added three of four from

Chiefs string together 2 victories

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With a 3-14 won-lost record, New Boston Huron was an unlikely candidate to wear glass slippers.

But, for two nights, Coach Terry Suemnick had a ball.

As if a fairy godmother had touched them with her magic wand, the Chiefs of Huron rode out and went on a winning rampage in the first two games of the district playoffs staged last week. Then, the magic disappeared.

Huron claimed a 56-53 victory over host, Monroe Jefferson, in the first round of the playoffs, then upended Ypsilanti Lincoln, 54-45, in the semifinals to made it into the championship round where Monroe St. Mary's ended the Huron magic, 72-52.

"It was good while it lasted," Suemnick said. "It's been a long season for us, but to play this well in the playoffs was gratifying. Psychologically, this tournament gave up a big lift."

It was the magic of Matt Holtan, who turned in his best overall performance of the season as he pumped in a career-high 27 points that triggered the Chiefs' victory over Jefferson.

Trailing by seven (34-27) at the half, Huron outscored their hosts 29-19 in the last two periods for their fourth win of the season. Ron Nowitz added 13 points for the winners.

In the semifinals, Huron rallied in the second half, again with Nowitz and Holtan leading the way, to break open a close game for their second win of the playoffs.

Nowitz led the Chiefs with 19 points and Holtan finished with 14.

Dueling for control of this rebound are Romulus' Kevin Brown (32) and Taylor Kennedy's Aaron Mach (41). When the duel was over, Romulus had shot down the Eagles from Kennedy and retained a Class A district basketball title. The victory was Romulus' ticket to the regional tournament, which got underway Tuesday at Ypsilanti. If Romulus stops Woodhaven in the first round, they will play the winner of the Plymouth Salem - Ann Arbor Huron game in the finals set for 7 p.m. Friday. ANP photo by Pat Douglas.

to outscore the Cougars 26-6 in the third period.

Claude McReynolds paced the Viking scorers. He had 10 baskets and two of three at the foul line for a game-high 22. Teammates Tyrone Orr and Jermaine Jackson chipped in with 19 and 18 points, while Annapolis received a superlative effort from Steve Thomas, who finished with 20 points.

Inkster made nine of 15 chances at the free throw line; Annapolis cashed in on seven of 16.

Daniels' 19 points led the field. Matt Queen had 12, while Mike Giacomantonio and Brown White each counted 11 points.

In a game punctuated by personal fouls, the Eagles canned 13 of 27 free throws, while Taylor Kennedy made good on 20 of 31 opportunities.

Romulus took a 13-10 overall won-lost record into the Class A regional championships, staged at Ypsilanti this week. Molloy and his Eagles had to contend with state-ranked Woodhaven in the first-round, played Tuesday night. Woodhaven boasted a 21-1 record going into regional combat.

"Their record speaks for itself," Molloy noted. "And one of the reasons why this is an outstanding Woodhaven team is that they can throw a front line at you that averages 6-6. They also have two excellent guards."

In the other bracket, Ann Arbor Huron squares off with Plymouth-Salem.

The two survivors will play for the regional title and a quarterfinal berth at 7 p.m. Friday.

the free throw line for a record-breaking 40 points. John Stillgraves was the only other Monroe player to reach two figures. He had 11.

Huron had four players in double figures. Matt Spiecker had 18 points, followed by Ron Nowitzke and Holtan, each with 14. Jason Hall added 10.

Huron was near-perfect at the free throw line where the Chiefs made 14 of their 15 offerings; Monroe was 11 of 20.

All-area team

Who are the top high school swimmers? Wrestlers? Volleyball players? Cagers?

Those questions — and others — will be answered during the next two weeks as the Associated Newspapers sports staff puts together their all-area teams.

Made up of the outstanding prep athletes, the teams and individuals will be selected by the ANP staff, in cooperation with the high school coaches.

One more of Fanny's secrets

Just Desserts

Sue Willett

Mother Nature is really getting on my nerves. Sure, early this week she gives us this little taste of spring, and then what does she do? Sends us back to seasonal netherland without so much as an apology. It's time for sunshine. You know, blue skies, green trees, daffodils and crocuses, that kind of stuff that reinforces our belief in the continuity of life.

But what do we get? Rain, fog, weather damp enough to make us think we've been warped to London. Let's face it, the human psyche can only stand so much of this mercurial limbo before we begin to get just the tiniest bit cranky. That's the excuse I'm using anyway.

The wonderful temperatures early this week, however, did prompt a cleaning binge of unusual proportions at my home. And, once again, I did come across things I had forgotten I ever owned, mercifully so in some cases. But in others, these items that are only seen with such infrequency do bring back memories.

The best of those recollections was provided by several old cookbooks of my grandmother's. Yes, I do mean Fanny Yoder, for whom the gin distillers of America declared a national day of mourning. My grandmother was, to put it delicately, exceptionally memorable and would, even today, be considered more than eccentric.

Her exploits in our family are legendary, and despite the solid disapproval of each of her nine children, her grandchildren adored her. My sister and I still roar with laughter recalling the Fanny stories which were only whispered among adults when they thought we either weren't around or were sleeping.

Hey, we were little, we weren't stupid. And if they ever knew the things grannie taught us and told us, they'd have had a stroke long before Fanny's heart finally failed her. Fanny gave us our first taste of her favorite beverage before we were near our teens - and then solidly denied any knowledge of the reason we slept right through Christmas dinner.

And when it came to the opposite sex, Fanny saw to it that we knew more about men than our mothers ever did, no matter how many True Confessions magazines they hid under the towels from us. At her funeral, Fanny still had more male admirers and former, er, companions than our family could count. She was among the first people I knew who wore tennis shoes constantly, occasionally with her pajamas. And she was the first person to ever explain to my sister and me that thinking for yourself was the only way to be a grownup.

She took us hostage in the kitchen where she taught us many of her secrets, many of which had nothing to do with what was going into the oven. She filled our minds and our hearts while she prepared to fill our stomachs with her various mysterious concoctions. She taught us a great deal more than how to cook.

We loved her dearly, but then, we never had to pay her bail.

Fanny's mayonnaise lemon cake

2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda

Eat healthy, beat bulge

Local nutritionist offers guidelines for the best diet

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Grapefruits are not magic, insists Cynthia Rutkowski.

Flooding the market in recent years are a steady stream of fad diets. They carry the hook of quick results with little effort on the part of the dieter. These promises are simply not possible, the local nutritionist warns.

"Be wary of fantastic claims. The only way to lose weight is to eat less or exercise more. There's no miracle," Rutkowski said.

A registered dietician at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Rutkowski counsels people about safe diet techniques. The first step, she tells clients, is to take a close look at their current eating habits. Rutkowski suggests a detailed diary listing everything eaten along with amounts and calories.

"They actually record for themselves what comes between their lips. It's amazing how much there is as you go through the day."

After all, who thinks about sampling the spaghetti sauce as it simmers or licking the spoon after mixing cookie batter?

Some people may be eating healthy food, just too much of it.

"Become aware of portion size," Rutkowski said.

One of her tricks of the trade, Rutkowski often illustrates her points with a case of rubber food. Using one of her models, she illustrated a three ounce boneless chicken breast fits neatly into a woman's hand. For most people, the proper serving size appears rather skimpy at first.

Another warning, even non-fattening foods like baked potatoes become calorie bombs after butter and sour cream are added. A pat of butter (40 calories) quickly melts and disappears in a hot potato. People do not see how much they really added until they discover the melted puddle beneath the potato skin.

"Look at the composition of what you're eating," Rutkowski said.

At restaurants, customers are often asked whether they prefer a salad or cole slaw with their meal. Creamy cole slaw has more calories than one with vinegar. The least fattening choice, however, is a salad or wedge of lettuce served with lemon juice or no dressing. Rutkowski said choosing the cole slaw is alright, but the dieter should be aware of exactly what he or she is eating.

Additional examples - vegetables are usually considered legal on a diet, but some are more fattening than others. Sweeter vegetables with more substance (like peas or corn) contain more calories than a watery choice (like broccoli or spinach).

The same principle applies to fruit, Rutkowski said. Grapefruit contains more water than the sweeter, starchier and more fattening banana.

"Once people are aware, they can make appropriate choices."

Rutkowski said most food groups have a wide range of calorie selections. Dark meat has more fat than dry meat. Commercial sugar-laden cereals can do more damage than a bowl of oatmeal or corn flakes, even with sweetener added.

Even cottage cheese, a traditional diet food, can be fattening. It contains up to four percent fat. Rutkowski suggested the varieties with one percent instead.

Keeping these factors in mind, Rutkowski warned against placing calorie content over nutritional value. A safe diet includes two daily servings of milk, equivalent to two eight-ounce glasses.

For protein, four to six ounces of meat is advisable - fish, poultry and some types of beans fit in this group.

Dieters should eat two vegetables a day, Rutkowski continued. One serving should be fresh. Fruit should also be eaten twice a day, including one high in vitamin C.

Rutkowski said cutting back on grains is not necessary or wise on a diet. They are not fattening, she said, only the toppings that go with them. Four to six servings a day are needed.

Also important for a healthy diet, Rutkowski said most people should drink six to eight glasses of water per day.

Of course the goal of any diet is to lose weight. Most people need 12 calories per pound to maintain their current weight. Active people use 15. However, to lose one pound of fat, a person must reduce their calorie intake by 3,500. To do this, Rutkowski said, one must eat less or exercise more. She suggested a little of both.

The 3,500-calorie reduction can be spread over a week-long period. The intake for one day can be reduced by 500 grams. People who need 1,800 calories a day to maintain their weight would strive for 1,500. After every five pounds or so lost, the daily amount would be reduced again.

Rutkowski offered a few more tips for success.

- A moment of weakness is not the end of the world. Don't give up after indulging in a piece of cake; go back to the diet.

- Avoid the lure of convenience foods such as TV dinners or microwave meals. Portion off leftovers and use them for quick meals.

- Plan menus in advance. Make a grocery list accordingly, and stick with it.

- For those who want an alcoholic drink, remember most mixers add calories. Also, realize a person on a diet may be more susceptible to the effects of alcohol.

Rutkowski suggested several good cookbooks for dieters - Dietician's Food Favorites, The American Cancer Society Cookbook and Menu for Life by Joan Klun Kaye and L.E. Smith. Rutkowski used these books to find the recipes listed below.

Tomato florentine soup

4 cups tomato juice

3 cups beef broth
3 cups water
1 10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach
1/4 cup onion, diced fine

Combine all ingredients in large stockpot. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Yields 10 cups, 34 calories each.

Bean pita pockets

2 cups carrots, diced
2 cups broccoli, diced
2 cups cauliflower, diced
2 cups onion, diced
1/4 cup mayonnaise reduced calorie or light
1/4 cup nonfat yogurt
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
2 cups kidney or pinto beans cooked
1/4 cup nonfat cheese, grated
4 9-inch whole wheat pita

Steam carrots, broccoli, cauliflower and onion in skillet or microwave oven. Mix mayonnaise, yogurt and mustard in small bowl. Mix beans and cheese with vegetables and mayonnaise mixture in large bowl. Slice pita in half. Open pocket. Fill with 1/8 of mixture. Place on a serving dish and bake in 350 degree oven eight to 10 minutes. The pitas can be microwaved instead-heat until the cheese melts. Yields eight halves, one serving each at 201 calories.

Potato salad

2 pounds potatoes
2 green onions, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped

6 radishes, chopped
2 celery stalks, chopped
1/4 cup fresh parsley, chopped
1/4 cup mayonnaise reduced calorie or light
1/2 cup nonfat yogurt
2 tablespoons cider or wine vinegar
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
1 tablespoon fresh dill weed

Boil potatoes until tender. Cool. Peel and cut into 1/2 inch cubes. In a large bowl, combine potatoes, onions, pepper, radishes, celery and parsley. In small bowl mix mayonnaise, yogurt, vinegar, mustard, celery seeds and dill weed. Add to potato and vegetable mixture. Cover and chill for at least two hours. Yields 16 servings, a half cup each at 56 calories.

Peach melba

1/2 cup raspberries, crushed
1/2 cup apple juice
2 teaspoons diet grape jelly
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
4 canned peach halves water packed, drained
4 teaspoons nonfat yogurt

Combine raspberries, apple juice, diet jelly. Heat to boiling. Simmer 30 minutes. Combine cornstarch and cold water. Add to sauce. Stir until thickened. Cool to room temperature. Place peaches in sherbet glass. Cover with sauce. Refrigerate. Prior to serving, top each peach half with 1 teaspoon yogurt. Yields 4 peach halves, one serving each at 50 calories.

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Bit of Mexico found in Belleville

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

During 23 years of waiting tables at the renowned Detroit restaurant, The London Chop House, Doz Perez visualized the restaurant he would someday open.

"I wanted to make a good Mexican restaurant, not just a Mexican restaurant."

Combining his knowledge in the dining room with his son's experience as a chef, Perez opened Dos Pesos last October in Belleville.

Perez said he is confident of his son's abilities. At age 26, Daniel has 11 years restaurant experience behind him. Daniel has worked as chef at the Caucus Club and the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. He was the head chef at Parkplace Cafe when he accepted the position at his father's restaurant.

"Mainly, we serve traditional Mexican food," Daniel said. "This is our first menu so we've stuck with the basics. We're looking to do more specials."

Basics can be defined as burritos, enchiladas, tacos, flautas and tostadas.

For those anxious to try something out the ordinary, the Mexican Specialties come into play. Perez said his favorite is the stuffed poblano pepper. The poblano looks like a green bell pepper, but is longer and less sweet. For the special it is stuffed with cheese and meat, dipped in an egg coating and fried. The pepper is served with a red sauce.

Another Dos Pesos classic, the jicama salad is tossed with apple, pumpkin seeds and a citrus dressing. The star of the salad, the jicama, is a slightly sweet Mexican root.

Perez said the root appears as a garnish with each entree. Customers tend to mistake it for onion before they taste it, he said.

Acting as technical advisor is Daniel's mother, Esperanza. She and another woman work closely with Daniel in the kitchen.

Everything served, Daniel said, is intended to have a homestyle flair.

"We are very far from Taco Bell or anything commercial, even Chi Chi's. Even our fried ice cream, we have our own recipe for the coating."

Daniel, who spends hours "prepping food," said the job can become tedious at times. To prepare enchilada sauce he must remove the skin from the chili peppers, puree the remaining flesh and make a stock. Even the garlic used so often in his recipes must be cleaned by hand.

"We're not taking any shortcuts at all."

Perez is equally demanding of himself.

"I get up in the morning and go shopping."

He has been known to visit three different factories in one day to find three different types of tortillas.

"We could easily order from one supplier, but we wouldn't have the freshness."

Dos Pesos restaurant, located at Belleville Road near Interstate 94, is open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Make your spring break travel plans before the rush

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP Managing Editor

Peter Cottontail will soon be hopping down the bunny trail, and many Michigan residents will be hopping right alongside him.

Easter or spring break is nearly upon us, signaling one of the busiest travel times of the year.

School vacations allow families to tear away from cold, wet and dreary Michigan, and make their way to sunnier locales. High school and college students prepare for their annual trek to the Florida coast where partying will be the order of the day.

Some potential travelers may be left behind, however, if they don't plan now for their vacation getaway.

Travel agents say booking ahead for summer break will save a great deal of expense and frustration.

Those driving to their sunny destination will probably be better off in the expenses department. Those who fly could spend three times more for airfare than during less busy travel seasons, according to representatives of the Automobile Association of America Michigan.

"Advance purchase discount tickets and vacation packages are booking quickly for warm weather destinations," said AAA Travel Agency Vice President Diane Willard.

Waiting too long before making travel arrangements could mean a more costly trip, and perhaps no trip at all. Hotel arrangements, rental cars and other travel plans should also be taken care of ahead of time.

"Even if a traveler is willing to pay the additional costs for making last-minute arrangements, availability of flights and accommodations could be a problem as Easter approaches," Willard said.

The most popular of all spring break destinations is, of course, Florida. Disney World, warm sand and surf all call to those tired of the Midwest winter.

Roundtrip airline tickets to Orlando that cost $198 in February, however, can cost $764 closer to the holiday, according to Willard.

Hilton Head, South Carolina, is also gaining popularity as a spring vacation spot, especially for the older set, or the entire family.

Some airlines predict a five percent increase in holiday traffic this year. The heaviest travel from Detroit Metropolitan Airport will be to Florida, southern California, Phoenix, Hawaii, Cancun and the Bahamas.

If you plan to visit Montana you probably won't need to rush to the travel agent for tickets, but if you plan to hit the beach for spring break, make a run for it.

Desserts

1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon pure lemon extract
1 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup milk

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and lightly flour two 8-inch round layer pans. Sift, stir or whisk together the flour, salt and baking soda and set aside. In a mixing bowl, beat together the mayonnaise, lemon extract and sugar. Add the dry ingredients alternately with the milk, blending after each addition. Spoon the batter into the prepared pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until the cake springs back when lightly pressed in the middle. Cool in the pans elevated on wire racks for 8 minutes. Turn out to cool.

Fanny's lemon icing

3 cups confectioner's sugar
6 tablespoons soft unsalted butter
grated zest of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon light run
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

With a wooden spoon, rub the powdered sugar through a sieve into a mixing bowl. Add the remaining ingredients and beat well. Add additional lemon juice if needed to make the icing spreadable.

Travel TALK

Emily's World

TRAVEL, LTD.

ROMANIAN HOLIDAY

If you want a holiday which is a little different from the ones that most people take, you might consider a trip to Romania. It is especially good if you like to explore and to vacation where not too many tourists go.

Romania has much to recommend it, besides its novelty. Within are some of Europe's loveliest mountains. The Transylvanian Alps high-light south-central Romania and the Carpathians run from the north to the southwest. Coupled with the Black Sea coast, they assure the visitor a full share of geography variety.

The mountains are great for winter sport activities. In spring or fall Bucharest, the capital, can be an interesting and lively place to visit. In summer, however, the best would be Mamaia or one of the other Black Sea resorts. The climate is excellent, the nightlife gay, and your fellow vacationers an interesting blend of nationalities. With the many recent changes in Eastern Europe this will not be a secret for long!
